

Coventry University is easily reached by road, rail or air. The information below shows you how to get to Coventry and, once you're here, how to find the University itself.

By rail

Coventry is on the main intercity route. Trains from London (Euston) leave every 30 minutes throughout most of the day with journey times of approximately 1 hour.

There are also daily services from Scotland and the Northwest, from Bristol, the Southwest and South Wales. In addition there are frequent services to Oxford, Southampton, and Bournemouth, as well as Nuneaton, Rugby, Birmingham New Street and Birmingham International.

Once you arrive at Coventry, you have three ways to reach the University. If you take a taxi, the fare will be approximately £4 and you should ask for Coventry University in the City-centre.

Alternatively, buses leave the station for the City-centre every ten minutes (after 18.00, every 20-30 minutes).

If you choose to walk, it will take you 10-15 minutes and the route is marked on the map.

By air

Birmingham International Airport is just 20 minutes away by road or rail. It provides direct daily flights to and from many other European cities.

By road

Coventry lies at the heart of a motorway network, with fast trouble-free roads right into the City. Once you get to the City-centre there are signposts to the University from all the relevant Ring Road junctions.

From London: follow the M1, leaving it at Junction 17 onto the M45. At the end of the M45, continue along the A45 and follow the signs for the City-centre.

From southern England: take the A34 to the M40. Leave the M40 at Junction 15, then take the A46 and follow signs for the City-centre.

From the Southwest: take the M5, then the M42, leaving the M42 at Junction 6. Follow the A45 to Coventry. (From South Wales: follow the M4 to the M5, then as above).

From western Scotland and the Northwest: leave the M6 at Junction 2 and follow City-centre signs.

From the North: take the M1 to Junction 21, then to the end of the M69, following signs for Coventry City-centre.

For those travelling by bus or coach, the bus and coach stations are just a few minutes' walk away from Priory Street.
